Narrative: On or about the above date and time Portland Police pulled into the vehicle sallyport. We had information that there was an uncooperative person with them. Myself, Hubert and Hollenbeck went to the vehicle sallyport to assist with the uncooperative person. We went to the police car and saw Chasse sitting in the back seat. He was sitting up in the seat with his seat belt on. His hands were behind his back and his legs together. I reached into the back seat of the car to help Chasse out. I placed my hands on his upper right arm and pulled him toward me. As I pulled he fell toward me. The Portland officer reached in to help and we pulled him out of the car. Chasse had a nylon restraint around his feet. He kept trying to wiggle and pull away from us. The Portland officer said that Chasse had spit at him. We placed a spit sock over his head. While doing so I noticed a small amount of blood on his forehead. Hubert and a road Deputy took Chasses arms, then Hollenbeck and the Portland officer lifted up on his feet. Chasse was face down. I had a hold of the back of his pants holding the waistband. We carried him inside to an open separation cell across from the booking counter in order to get him to calm down. We placed Chasse on the floor and attempted to remove his hand cuffs. Chasse continued to wiggle and kick his feet. The Portland officer was at Chasses shoulders and Hubert and Hollenbeck were holding his feet. I was kneeling to the left of Chasse, trying to remove the nylon restraint from Chasses ankles. He was kicking and moving and not following instructions to stay still. This made it difficult to remove the nylon strap. Someone handed me some safety scissors. I cut the nylon restraint and removed it quickly. Hubert and Hollenbeck held his feet as I removed the handcuffs. I noticed sores on his arm. His pants were soiled and he smelled really bad. We exited the cell quickly and closed the door. We notified medical. They looked at him and said that they refuse to accept him into custody. We reentered the cell. Chasse was placed in handcuffs and leg irons. We carried him back to the Police car. I held his left arm and the road Deputy carried his right arm. Hubert and Hollenbeck carried his legs. He continued to wiggle and yell. We placed him in the back seat. He sat up. I walked away and into the booking area. No further incident.
